Title 1 Explanation

Title I is a federal program that provides funding to schools with a high percentage of students from low-income families. The program aims to improve academic achievement and close the educational gap between high- and low-income students. Title I funds are used to supplement state and local funding for low-achieving children, especially in high-poverty schools. The funds are distributed to schools based on the percentage of students who qualify for free or reduced lunch.

Title I funding is part of a larger group of "entitlement programs" that require the federal government to give payments to states or people who meet eligibility requirements.
